4 Cadets Get Awards For Leadership, Grades

• FOUR AFROTC members were presented awards for their scholarship and leadership during ceremonies held at the University February 15.

The awards went to Cadet Major Robert D. Reid, Cadet T/Sgt. Roger H. Finch, and Cadet Majors Walter L. Baumann and Samuel J. Keyser.

Annual Starts Final Sales

• THE CHERRY TREE sales drive has begun its last week, with orders increasing as the closing date nears.

Students may order the yearbook at the sales booth in the Student Union lobby, which will remain open during rush hours through 7 p.m. Friday evening.

Over 700 annuals were sold through the Campus Combo last fall.

Editor Peggy Nichols has planned this year's Cherry Tree on a theme of design. It is organized to give a complete picture of life at the University. A fourteen page preview section will be added in place of the regular table of contents.

The beauty and feature sections will be combined, and Miss Nichols plans greater use of color and candid photographs.

2 Groups Sponsor International Nite

• MUSIC AND DANCING from many nations will highlight the first annual International Night in Lisner Auditorium March 2 at 8:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the Student Council and the International Students' Society, the event is part of the Colonial Program Series.

Demetre Argypopoulos, president of the society, has announced the program will include a display of Scottish dancing, Swiss flag throwing and Indian choral singing. Tom Pence and the University's dance production group will demonstrate American folk songs and dances. Native music and dances will represent Brazil, China, Colombia, Panama, the Philippines and Spain.

The show will conclude with a nations parade of University girls in their national costumes, and the crowning of an international queen.

Cadet Majors Robert D. Reid and Roger H. Finch each received the Chicago Tribune Gold Medal award. The medals were awarded by Col. Carl Swyter, professor of air science and Assistant Dean Carr B. Lavell of the Junior College. The medal is presented to cadets who have made "an outstanding contribution to the effectiveness of the AFROTC program through the highest ideals of leadership and scholastic excellence."

Also during the ceremonies, Cadet Majors Reid, Walter L. Baumann and Samuel J. Keyser were cited as Distinguished AFROTC Cadets.

A group of 14 cadets left Bolling Air Force Base on February 16 for a four-day trip to Barstow Air Force Base near Tampa, Florida. This visit is the first extended trip sponsored by the ROTC and is designed to give the men a preview of life in the Air Force.

University Purchases Portrait by Peale of George Washington

• THE so-called "Port Hole" portrait of George Washington by Rembrandt Peale is on its first showing since its purchase by the University in October, 1955 from Walter P. Chrysler, Jr. The painting is on exhibit as part of the fifth annual exhibition on George Washington, The Man, this month in Lisner Library. It combines the life portrait made in his early youth with those painted by his father, as well as a study of the Houdon statue and other life portraits of Washington. The description "port-hole" is inaccurate, the background being really an oval stone spandrel or casement.

Union Begins Drive For Student Opinion

• A NEW CAMPAIGN to "Put the U in Union" has been launched by Earl Smith, Student Union Board Chairman.

A suggestion box on the second floor of the Union will enable the student body to express opinions on the functions and the new arrangement of the building.

As a result of a student poll taken last spring, the reading room, and the game and music room were interchanged between semesters. The soundproof rooms on the fourth floor, which were formerly occupied by the piano, may now be used as student conference rooms. If suggestions indicate that students would like a soundproof room for the piano on the third floor, the University will install one.

Other suggestions on such matters as the trophy displays and the recreational and study facilities in the Union may be placed in the box.

Two typewriters have recently been installed on the fourth floor of the Student Union.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young manager handles finances for $40,000,000 business

General Electric is made up of more than 90 product departments that operate as individual "businesses" — each conducting its own legal, financial, manufacturing, engineering, marketing and research activities.

One of the most important of these businesses is the Technical Products Department that makes broadcasting and communications equipment and semi-conductor devices. Responsible for managing the finances of this $40 million business is Robert H. Platt.

Platt's Work Is Important, Responsible

In the next ten years, the Technical Products Department is expected to reach the $100 million mark — more than doubling its present size. This is a big job. And it requires Platt to keep tabs on everything from tax, cost, and general accounting to payrolls, budgets and measurements, credits and collections, and internal auditing.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

Experience gained in the Business Training Course and as a traveling auditor gave Platt a variety of financial experience. Like each of our 25,000 college-graduate employees, he was given the chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh young minds are given the freedom to make progress, everybody benefits — the individual, the company, the country.

Educational Relations, General Electric Company, Schenectady 5, New York

ROBERT H. PLATT joined G.E. in 1941 after receiving his B.A. at Colgate University. He served 2 years in the Navy, attaining the rank of Lieutenant (J.G.). He is also a graduate of G.E.'s Business Training Course.

Get Active

• THE 1956 EDITION of the Activities Fair will be unveiled Friday night at Lisner Auditorium. It seems that freshmen and underclassmen at the University shouldn't need urging to participate in collegiate activities, but a critical glance around the campus reveals that the majority of activities are handled by a small group of students.

This University is unique in providing one night in which all the various organizations can present their menus to students. The Student Council, which sponsors the Activities Fair, has taken a sensible attitude by not pressing first semester students to take on activities, but advising them to concentrate on their studies until they get the "feeling" of college work. But these same freshmen too often fail to realize the importance of participation in extra-curricular life, and continue to abstain from activities except when pushed by their fraternities or sororities.

Activities are open to all students of the University and no favoritism is shown to the Greeks. It is important for the independent and the part-time or night student to remember that he can contribute as much to his school as the next fellow. Only by a widespread and inclusive participation in activities can students be certain that the organizations at the University have the general interest of the school at heart and plan programs for the best advantage of the University as a whole.

If the organizations participating in the Fair conscientiously and willingly follow up and encourage new students attracted Friday night, and the new students adopt the attitude that activities will help themselves and the school, then the University organizations will truly represent the interests and opinions of the students.

Angels Add Beauty To Campus ROTC

by Doris Rosenberg

• ONE OF THE most popular groups around campus nowadays is the new and snappy Angel Flight, the girls' division of the University's Air Force ROTC department.

A happy addition to the ROTC group, the Angels, in their uniforms of blue and gold, are adding color and beauty to the University's military program. The girls, in addition to becoming acquainted with the Air Force and the ROTC and learning leadership techniques, are being trained to become a highly proficient marching unit.

Another purpose of the newly-formed Angel Flight is to interest girls in taking the advanced course in Air Science offered at the University, making them eligible for a commission as a WAF officer in the U. S. Air Force Reserve. According to Air Force plans expected soon to be approved by the Department of Defense, the two-year advanced course would qualify girls upon graduation to enter the Air Force as WAF second lieutenants. This will help build up the WAF officer corps, which is now a third below required strength. There are at present 188 ROTC units in the United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, and the Air Force will select a certain number of these to initiate the WAF ROTC program. Col. Carl Swyter, director of the Department of Air Science, has received informal information from the WAF office at the Pentagon that the George Washington University is almost certain to be one of the schools selected.

At present there are twenty-seven girls in the Angel Flight, twenty-four of whom are enrolled in the Leadership Laboratory for elective credit. Three of these are also enrolled in Air Science I. The University would like to increase the marching group to forty members but future admission will be limited to freshman girls who enroll in Leadership Laboratory for elective credit.

Only Angels will be eligible in the future for membership in the Flying Sponsors, the women's honorary military society. The girls will be pledged during their sophomore year and admitted at the beginning of their junior year.

President Cloyd H. Marvin is largely responsible for the appearance of an Angel Flight at the University. He has been particularly interested in the organization

Phi Eta Sigma

• SENIORS GRADUATING in February and June who plan to work for graduate degrees and who are members of Phi Eta Sigma, Freshman Honor Society, should contact Dean William Turner in Monroe 2-3.

The National Phi Eta Sigma Fraternity, offers two three-hundred dollar scholarships each year on the basis of the student's scholastic record, evidence of creative ability, evidence of financial need and personality.

of this group and asked Miss Virginia Kirkbride, Director of Women's Activities, and Col. Swyter to make possible plans for a girls' marching unit at the University.

Plans are being made to enter the Angels in the annual George Washington Birthday parade in Alexandria. As Col. Swyter says, it would be a parade appropriate for the girls in the University to make their first public appearance.

Council Capers

• A REPORT from the executive committee of Campus Combo was first on the agenda at last week's Student Council meeting.

Combo Co-Chairman Bob Gray gave the report, which stated that the CHERRY TREE would not be included in next year's Combo. If the executive committee's recommendations are approved, next year's Combo will cost $7.50, and will entitle its holder to one free ticket for the Homecoming Dance, Winter Weekend, Colonial Cruise, Fashion Show, all three drama productions, the dance concert and probably membership in Colonial Boosters.

Different Appearance

The new Combo would also be quite different in appearance. Instead of an all-purpose card, which has served in the past, Combo purchasers would receive a book of tickets similar to the student activities book. This would save much confusion, time and expense, according to Mr. Gray. He added that the executive committee was "pretty well pleased" with this plan.

Dick Sincoff, member-at-large, was appointed to act as Advocate for the next week in order to handle petitions for a new Advocate and School of Government representative. These two positions were left vacant by mid-year graduations. The petitioners will appear before the Council at this week's meeting, when two of them will be selected to fill the positions.

Busy Bee Ball

Freshman Director Beverly Borden announced that the next social dance will be held in the Union on Feb. 24 from 9 to 12 p.m. Entitled the "Busy Bee Ball," the dance will feature entertainment at intermission by the Dance Production Groups and a singing trio. Hostesses for the affair will be from Delta Zeta, Phi Sigma Sigma and Zeta Tau Alpha sororities and Mortar Board. Tassels is working on publicity for the dance.

This week's Student Council meeting will be held on Feb. 23, as the regular meeting day falls on a legal holiday. As usual, the meeting will be held in the Student Union Annex. There will be no meeting the following week because the University Fashion Show falls on the council's regular meeting night.

• ALL STUDENTS planning to graduate in June, 1956, or October, 1956, should register immediately with their Dean's Office for the Graduate Records Exam to be given on April 21.

• PRAISES TO GEORGE Washington for having his birthday on a school day this year—and happy holiday, all.

The ADPI's held a highly successful "spinsters' party" at Linda Doane's home last Friday night. Those present included Carol Hesse, Mary Lou Bishop, Laura Jefferson and Glenda Beauchamp.

Also on Friday night was the ZTA-Phi Sig exchange, which was enlivened by songs sung by Ruth Reagan and Nat Hauser. Multiple party games added to the festivities. Still going strong on Saturday night, "Tiger Jack" Raymond added his powerful voice to the party at the house. Listening were PiPhi Joyce Brady and Bill Staunton, Linda Wagner and Bill Telaski, Molly Lukens and Dick Cunningham, Frances Visente and Bill Player, B. J. Johnson and Chuck Forbes and Jim Newheiser with a mysterious date named Bobbie Jean. The topic of the evening was the recent return of Forbes & Gordon, a two-man investigating committee who traveled to Northwestern U. last week. Why the 1500 mile round trip? To compare Northwestern sororities to G. W. sororities! Any luck, men?

The sixth floor of the dorm was the scene of two birthday parties two weeks ago. Feting Earlene Seabaugh, ADPI, and KKG pledge Sandy Reedy were Rosa Wiener and two unidentified dorm Counselors.

PIKA announces the pinning of Joe Hince to Cece La Sturgeon on last Friday night.

The Chi O's held an initiation dinner after receiving 11 new members on Sunday. The event of the evening was the presentation of the Model Pledge Cup to Kitty Maddock. Newly initiated Sandy Monti wore a very lovely corsage, sent to her in honor of the occasion by SAE, pledge Bob McCandless.

Also celebrating their initiation were the Sigma Chi's, at a banquet held on Sunday in honor of the seven men received. The dinner was served by the Sig's Mothers' Club.

The Sig Eps celebrated the victory over Army with a post-game blast in the SPE Dungeon, led by O'Neil Meyer and DZ pledge Carol Collier, Tweedy Owens and Irene O'Keefe. New "Whiz Club" members were initiated, according to the brothers, including Cheevers, Jacot, Kook, Platt, Humph Judson, Pope Jack, Moon-dog Hoerber, etc., etc., etc.

Mystery: what well-known coed was seen outside Strong Hall on last Thursday making a survey of all students who attended the Winter Weekend dressed as gypsies? Could it be that she lost something important on that fateful evening? ? ?

Editor Gets Stranded; Still Loves To Travel

by Elva Schroebel

• CHERRY TREE editor Peggy Nichols reacts to most things with "I love it" or "I can't stand it."

An enthusiastic brunette with dark brown eyes, Peggy says her biggest thrill at the moment is getting the CHERRY TREE to the printers. "Now," she says, "I may have a few afternoons free to study." Although it was a lot of hard work, "I worked in the CHERRY TREE office many days from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. with just a little time off to get some lunch," says Peggy, she likes to remember her trip to Nashville, which the CHERRY TREE editor takes every year to set up the dummy of the yearbook. As Peggy says, she "had a ball."

Peggy came to the University from Westfield, New Jersey, and though she was a late registrant in her freshman year, she "loves" the University. "A lot of people" she says, "don't realize how much it has to offer."

Pledged Pi Phi

Peggy pledged Pi Phi right away. "It was a special thrill to me," she says, "because both my mother and her twin sister were Pi Phi's in this chapter." She has served her sorority in the offices of rush chairman and recording secretary and her work has been honored by membership in Delphi, sorority women's honorary.

A cheerleader in her sophomore year, Peggy was initiated into Tassels, has worked on the Career Conference and is currently president of the Spanish Club. For her journalistic work she was elected to Pi Delta Epsilon, journalism honorary, of which she was president last semester, and membership on the Publications Committee. She was tapped last May for Mortar Board and this year was named to "Who's Who."

Visits Venezuela

Besides school, Peggy has always had two other dominating interests, South America and travel. She is majoring in Spanish literature, she wrote her term paper on the people of Argentina and collects Spanish records. Adding to this her love of travel, Peggy has naturally spent much time visiting her brother in Venezuela and getting stranded enroute in various parts of the Dutch West Indies and Bermuda.

After her Christmas trip to Venezuela, Peggy returned wearing a Sigma Chi cross ("he was a Sigma Chi at U.C.L.A.") and a diamond her sorority sisters insist on calling "the rock of Gibraltar," and announced an August wedding following June graduation. Where will she live? Why in Venezuela, where her engineer fiancé is stationed. And what does Peggy think of it? "I love it."

Comager Discusses Enrollment; Deplores Intercollegiate Sports

by Ernest Auerbach

• WRITING IN THE New York Times on the problem of spiraling college enrollment, Henry Steele Comager, Professor of American History at Columbia University, explains, "the Problem Isn't Bricks—It's Brains."

Professor Comager says, "Far and away the most serious problem of expanding enrollments is one that has received curiously little attention. It is the intellectual problem . . . to find the brains and skills that will be required to serve the needs of four to five million mature students," the expected college student increases in the next ten years.

Faced with competition for trained scholars from national and state governments and foundations, the solution to adequately handle the rush of students must lie in other areas, says Professor Comager. One solution to meet the shortage of teaching talent is to cut down on lectures and thereby reduce the number of professors called for by lectures. From the students' point of view, the time going to lectures and preparing for exams can be more profitably spent in the study or in the library, says Comager.

"We still tend to think of teaching as it was centuries ago, before the rise of the university library and the development of library science. Now that students can read for themselves, English universities have turned more and more from lectures to tutoring or to self education."

"Another way to counterbalance the cost of numbers is to cut down substantially on administrative overhead. All too commonly the most impressive buildings on a university campus are the gymnasium and the administrative building . . ." The money saved by cutting down on this type of cost, says Professor Comager, can better be devoted to the main job of education. Another unnecessary waste of money is that spent for intercollegiate athletics. "Why not sweep away the whole absurd paraphernalia of organized intercollegiate sports, with their insatiable demands for money, their fantastic distraction of energy, their immoral emphasis on winning games, and on spectator interest, and let the students manage their own sports and games? All in all, our colleges and universities make too little intellectual demand on students and far too many non-intellectual demands—class attendance for example, or a fixed number of terms and of years.

Professor Comager concludes, "the prospect in higher education, serious as it is, is far from desperate. It is one that calls for bold and original thinking, for inventiveness and for vision. If we are prepared to reconsider the nature and function of our universities, to eliminate what is elementary, useless, or trivial, cut down on the administrative mechanics and the intellectual clutter, concentrate on the creation of an atmosphere of learning and on respect for the excitement about learning, and encourage the young to play a vigorous and creative role in higher education, problems that now loom so portentously may take on a less forbidding character."

THE UNIVERSITY HATCHET, Tuesday, February 21, 1956—5

We are always going to have "problems" in education; let us at least see to it that it is the intellectual, not the material problems that engage our interest and challenge our ingenuity."

THE CARE AND FEEDING OF ROOM-MATES

Today we take up room-mates, a delightful phenomenon of American college life. Having a room-mate is not only heaps of fun; it is also very educational, for the proper study of mankind is man, and there is no better way to learn the dreams and drives of another human being than to share a room with him.

This being the case, it is wise not to keep the same room-mate too long, because the more room-mates you have, the more you will know about the dreams and drives of human beings: And that's what we're all after, isn't it?

So try to change room-mates as often as you can. A recent study made by Sigafos of Michigan State shows that the best interval for changing room-mates is every four hours.

Now let us discuss how to go about choosing a room-mate. Most counselors agree that the most important thing to look for in room-mates is that they be people of regular habits. This, I say, is arrant nonsense. What if one of their regular habits happens to be beating a great gong from midnight to three a.m.? Or growing cultures in the tooth glass? Or reciting the Articles of War? Or peanut brittle?

Change room-mates every . . .

Regular habits indeed! I say that beyond quibble, far and away the most important quality in room-mates is that they be exactly your size. Otherwise you will have to have their clothes altered to fit you, which can be a considerable nuisance. In fact, it is sometimes flatly impossible. I recollect one time I roomed with a man named Tremblatt Osgage who was just under seven feet tall and weighed nearly four hundred pounds.

There wasn't a blessed thing I could use in his entire wardrobe—until one night when I was invited to a masquerade party. I cut one leg off a pair of Tremblatt's trousers, jumped into it, sewed up both ends and went to the party as a bolster. (Incidentally, I took second prize. First prize went to a girl named Antenna Wilkins who poured molasses over her head and went as a candied apple.)

But I digress. Let us get back to the qualities that make desirable room-mates. Not the least of these is the cigarettes they smoke. When we borrow cigarettes, do we want them to be harsh, shoddy, and disdainful of our palates? Certainly not! What, then, do we want them to be? Why, we want them to be gentle, delicately-reared, and designed to suit the tempo of today's broader, easier life! And what cigarette is gentle, delicately-reared, and designed to suit the tempo of today's broader, easier life? Why, Philip Morris, of course! (I'll bet you knew it all the time!)

To go on. In selecting a room-mate, take great pains to find someone who will wear well, whom you'd like to keep as a permanent friend. Many of history's great friendships first started in college. Are you aware, for example, of the remarkable fact that Johnson and Boswell were room-mates at Oxford in 1712? What makes this fact so remarkable is that in 1712 Johnson was only three years old and Boswell had not been born yet. But, of course, children matured much earlier in those days. Take Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart who wrote his first symphony at the age of four. Or Titian, who painted his first masterpiece at five. Or Hans Otto McGrath, who was in many ways the most remarkable of all; he was appointed chief of the Copenhagen police department at the age of six!

(It must be admitted, however, that the appointment was less than a success. Criminals roamed the city, robbing and looting at will. They knew young McGrath would never pursue them; he was not allowed to cross the street.)

The makers of Philip Morris, who sponsor this column, cordially invite you and your room-mate to try today's new, gentle Philip Morris. It's always welcome!

Dr. Yocum Retires from Botany Dept. After Teaching Here for 25 Years

• DR. L. EDWIN YOCUM, retiring head of the botany department, was honored by almost 100 friends, colleagues and students at a surprise party February 14.

W. A. Shropshire, president of Phi Epsilon Phi, botany honorary, presented a camera, Phi Epsilon Phi plaque, a set of Walcott prints entitled "Wild Flowers of North America" and a folder of letters and tributes from some sixty colleagues and students to Dr. Yocum.

A highlight of the evening was the unveiling of a TIME magazine cover portrait by T. R. McCann, a Corcoran School of Art student. Titled "An Age of Botany," it depicted Dr. Yocum in the greenhouse atop Building C.

Dr. Yocum will be on Sabbatical leave from the University during the spring semester. In March he and Mrs. Yocum plan to sail for Europe.

Women Give Scholarships

• TWO SCHOLARSHIPS ARE being offered to young college women by the Women's Club of Chevy Chase, Maryland.

The first of these scholarships, for $500, will be given to a young woman entering her first year in college. The other, worth $225, will be awarded to a young woman continuing her undergraduate work.

Candidates must be young women living within the boundaries served by the Chevy Chase post office and daughters of club members or girls attending Woodrow Wilson or Bethesda-Chevy Chase High Schools. Financial need will be considered in selecting the winners. An alternate will be appointed for each scholarship.

These awards may be used for attendance at the University, or at any recognized college or university.

Further information may be obtained through the chairman of Applied Education at the Chevy Chase Women's Club.

Melpar needs men to do jobs that have never been done before

They say younger minds are often the best minds . . . creative, unafraid to explore and open to challenge. We at Melpar fully agree.

What's more, Melpar needs the creative younger minds, because we are charting courses in areas never before explored. To us it's a constant adventure, and an expedition into the unknown.

We wish you could watch the progress of the young men in our research laboratories. Men who only yesterday, it seems, came to us from the universities and are now engaged in vital projects in our applied research and development programs.

We think it would help you evaluate the various opportunities which present themselves and to decide you belong in an organization which recognizes not only your abilities, but your long range ambitions as well. We have found that the best means of helping our men achieve these ambitions is to let them work from the start on small congenial project teams led by experienced engineers. Achievement is quickly recognized and rewarded.

We believe an engineering graduate is ready to apply his knowledge. If, however, you desire to pursue advanced study while on the job, we invite you to join any of our many accredited in-plant courses, or enroll at one of the many universities in the Greater Washington Area.

You will find the Washington Area an ideal place in which to live and work. Free of heavy industry, virtually depression proof, close to Government agencies and other research sources, the suburban area in which Melpar is located provides a stimulating environment for professional and intellectual growth under conditions of minimum stress.

Melpar is a subsidiary of Westinghouse Air Brake Company, and devoted primarily to electronics research and development. Our new ultra-modern plant, 10 miles from Washington, D.C., encompasses 265,000 square feet, and is one of the most complete research facilities in the country.

Our work is in the following fields:

- Network Theory
- Systems Evaluations
- Microwave Technique
- UHF, VHF or SHF Receivers
- Analog Computers
- Magnetic Tape Handling
- Digital Computers
- Radar and Counter-measures
- Packaging Electronic Equipment
- Pulse Circuitry
- Microwave Filters
- Flight Simulators
- Servomechanisms
- Subminiaturization
- Electro-Mechanical Design
- Small Mechanisms

• THE SHARPSHOOTERS met Washington & Lee and VPI in a three-way match last Saturday in Lexington Virginia with the Buff ending up on the bottom. VPI was the winner of the match with a total of 1403 points followed by W & L with 1342 and the Buff last with 1334

The match was held in three relays, with the Buff's seven rifle-men leading in the first relay, second in the the next relay, and then W & L just pulled ahead in the final relay.

Paul Nordquist was once again the top man for the Colonials and was also top man in the meet. Paul shot a 288 out of a possible 300, with two VPI men following with a 285 and a 284.

Friday night the rifle team plays host to the W & L team. This will be the first home match for the team and Sgt. Furcell indicates that the Buff will be going all out for their first victory by having every varsity shooter ready to compete. The match will be held in the basement of Corcoran.

• THE ROWING team is also picking up speed, as the team has finally hit the water in the past week. Last Sunday fifteen men met with their new coach at the Old Dominion Boat Club and started practice rowing. The new coach is Ron McKay, who presently is stationed at Fort Belvoir, and has consented to donate his services.

• THE SAILING TEAM also opened its spring season last weekend with the annual Frostbite Regatta between Catholic University and George Washington with the Colonial sailors coming out on top.

The crew of Rick Davies and Barbara Harvey came out on top in the Tempest Class to cinch the win for the Colonials Sunday after all races were called off Saturday due to the poor weather.

• "JOE HOLUP is the goods." That's what a reporter in New York said about him. The guy was right, too. Joe is the big man, the one we count on, and the one who delivers. Quiet, unruffled, he sometimes goes unnoticed in the fast action, but he's always in there, with his tongue tucked in his lower lip, giving it all the play he can muster.

Joe ought to be an All-America, and I'll be disappointed if he's not. One of the nation's leading scorers, he also leads the country in field goal percentage and in average rebounds per game. On top of that Joe is the Colonials' most valuable player. As the highest scorer George Washington has ever produced, he is ninth among the all-time college point makers and ranks among the highest—if not the highest—in shooting accuracy. That's All-America quality.

Except for swinging his big jaw like a lantern, Holup during a game is practically expressionless. Never one to squawk, Big Joe takes gouging, roughness and uncalled fouls with a dead pan. I've never seen anyone else take the beatings he has taken and calmly play on without a word to the official or a vengeful look in his eye. Holup is immensely popular in Washington, and it's a rare fan who doesn't appreciate all that he does.

Holup is the guy they liked in New York, in Philadelphia, in Richmond, in Textile Hall, and in the Washington area. Compare Holup to some of the flashy stars, and then compare how important each is to his team. Joe will still come out in the top five. There may be ball players who score more, or who have more color, or who are better men, but to George Washington and to us who appreciate his basketball, there is only one Joe Holup; he is the goods. Joe is a good example of the tops in sportsmanship—the kind of man the refs like to see on the court. I'm glad he came to George Washington.

Alumni Lettermen Present Memorial

• THE GEORGE WASHINGTON Alumni Lettermen's Club presented a memorial plaque to all G. W. athletes who served and died during World War II.

John Baker, ex-grid star here, President of the Lettermen's Club made the presentation to Bob Faris, Graduate Manager of Athletics, between halves of the Furman game.

Buff Closes With Georgetown, Duke Team Regains Form; Holup Breaks Mark

by Paul Welch

• THE COLONIALS started back on their winning ways last week by taking three straight. The Colonials rushed past William and Mary 81 to 69, then outraced Furman 107 to 87, and last Saturday mauled Army, 94 to 70.

Reinhart's men had a tough game with the William and Mary Indians for 30 minutes as the Colonials had a slender 57 to 54 lead starting the last quarter. But Captain Joe Holup came to the rescue again as he dropped in four free throws and a basket to increase the lead to 63 to 54. Reinhart's horses then pulled away with Joe Holup again the high scorer with 27 points and followed closely by Joe Petcavich with 25 points.

New Record

Friday night the Purple Paladins and All-American Darrell Floyd were the guests of the Colonials at Uline Arena. The Colonials showed no courtesy as they walloped Furman with Captain Joe Holup breaking his own school record, scoring with 49 halftime lead of 48 to 36 substantially as Army was unable to score in the first six minutes of the second half. Joe Petcavich was high man with 22 points and Joe Holup tallied 18 even though sitting out for more than a quarter of the game.

The team will finish out its regular schedule in the coming week with three games. Tonight the Hoyas of Georgetown offer the opposition at McDonough Gym and Saturday night the Colonials will play at Duke. A week from tonight the Colonials will entertain Georgetown at Uline Arena. All three games should be good ones as Georgetown gave Maryland a tussle before losing in overtime. Duke has beaten Maryland twice, while Wake Forest succumbing to the Colonials twice, has defeated Duke twice.

Student Tickets

• STUDENTS will be admitted to the George Washington-Georgetown game tonight at Georgetown for $1 and presentation of the Student Activities Book at Linsner ticket office or at McDonough Gym.

points and also setting another record by dropping in 21 straight foul shots.

The win gave the Colonials the top spot in the Southern Conference standings with a record of 10 wins and two losses. The West Virginia Mountaineers also have the same record but the Colonials will be given top grade because the Colonials have already beaten Hundley and group.

Army Stopped

Saturday night the Colonials showed the Army that they were not to be ordered about although the Cadets made a game of it for the first quarter. The Reinhart group scored 11 straight points to go ahead for good after Army had taken a 21 to 18 lead.

The Colonials controlled both backboards and increased their

Cagers Lose; Shooters Win

• THE GIRLS' VARSITY rifle team won its first match of the season by defeating Cortland State College by a score of 486 to 448.

The top five scorers for the Buffites were Helen Skopic and Ethel Tucker with 99 out of a possible 100. Verdel Algee shot a 98, Regina Gorski shot 97 and Nancy Codel fired a 93.

The most unusual performance was given by Ethel Tucker as Ethel was firing in her first match. The other team members were Pat Kirkland, Marilyn Greer and Fay Callaway.

The next match will be this Saturday with Drexel here.

• DESPITE A brilliant second half performance, the girls' cagers dropped a heartbreaker to Marjorie Webster there by a 57 to 55 score.

The Buff team used a zone defense in the first half but Marjorie Webster found it no puzzle as they took a halftime lead of 13 points. The girls then changed to a man-to-man in the second half (woman-to-woman?) and cut the lead down but could just never catch up. High scorers for the Buff were Ethel Tucker with 22 points and Carol Hesse with 19.

Entries For Wrestling Submitted This Week

by Chris McAvoy

• ALL ENTRIES for the March 2 wrestling matches must be in the Intermural Office by Friday, February 24. Four men constitute a team, and points are awarded on the basis of ten points for a win and five points for a draw. Wrestling proved to be one of the real crowd-pleasers of last year's winter program. In order to handle the large number of matches which the Department is expecting this year, two mats will be set up to accommodate the grunt-and-groan athletes of the University.

It is mandatory that every grappler pass a physical examination before being allowed on the mat. The examination will be given at the Student Health Office, which is located in Bldg. P on G Street, directly across from Monroe Hall. Office hours are from 9-12 noon. Get over there as soon as possible and avoid the last minute rush.

Verbal rumblings from my strategically placed informants on mural goings-on indicate strong opposition massing against the possibility of the SAE grapplers winning a second straight wrestling crown.
